Curriculog Update

New law on USHE/Board of Regents approvals (SB 238) – R401 process for USU is still business as usual. Last Thursday meeting of the CAOs they spent time with the associate commissioner to try to figure out what this new process will look like. As far as USU committees go, this has no effect on them and it will be business as usual up through Faculty Senate. Once the report has gone to Faculty Senate before it goes to the USU Board of Trustees, they will go to the commissioner’s office for 2 levels of review. First is editorial review by USHE staff (always done) Second level of review is a CANVAS based review across the entire state involving all Utah institutions. After the completion of the two reviews, USHE will then compile a report based on the input and feedback from the statewide review. They then, by law, must send a report to the USU Board of Trustees. What will the report look like? No one knows right now, however, they’re thinking the simplest way possible. Could be a check box with no major concerns. Could be a little more language about any major points raised about the proposal. How does it get to the BoT? – Regents would have to send it directly to the trustees. The university has received a draft of what this will look like. This change is just a small piece of SB 238.
