University Business - President Albrecht
The State of Utah Board of Regents were on campus Thursday and Friday, September 15-16. While they are here there will be presentations made regarding campus building projects. The Science building first phase has been funded and we will work on getting funding the for second phase. There will be a Harry Reid event in Washington, DC. USU will be celebrating Harry Reid and his service and also acknowledging him as a graduate of USU. During this trip there will be meetings with the congressional delegation in DC. Will help congressional committees understand USU’s needs and provide updates. President Albrecht wants to keep working with the Blanding campus and working on the Native American Land Grant. This grant requires an act of congress and Senator Hatch and Senator Lee will work with us on getting this moving forward. The Research Foundation hit $99M in funding through the Space Dynamics Lab.

Sexual Assault Update - Anonymous reports can be submitted. There will be updated training for responsible employees. A handbook/guide for reporting is forthcoming. The best action, when a victim has approached a faculty or staff is to contact General Counsel. Graduate students are considered as faculty and they are required to report as well. Sometimes students talk about this in the context of a class and they are not reporting just talking about a life experience. If this happens, faculty should go to Stacy Sturgeon or Mica McKinney.

FLSA – USU is not the only school to not be grandfathering leave accrual rates. Weber State University is grandfathering. There will be a one-year transition period for those 22-day vacation accruals. Supervisors need to be considerate of the loss of time that those affected individuals are experiencing.

Reports
EPC Items - September 2016
For the benefit of new members, the EPC Chair went through the process/timeline regarding EPC submissions and deadlines. EPC is an umbrella organization tasked to handle all curriculum matters at the university. EPC has three subcommittees: Academic Standards, General Education and Curriculum.
Each subcommittee has monthly meetings and reports up to the EPC. Monthly reports to the FSEC will include actionable items from the subcommittees and other items of interest.

R401 program proposals are initiated through the Utah State Board of Regents. USHE tracks every single program in the state. There are two types of forms: abbreviated form and full template and these are to be used for all new programs. Reviewed the R401 Proposal Flow Chart. The EPC agenda goes to the BFW chair for information and review. Curriculum Committee is utilizing Curriculog for all course changes.
Motion to move to the Faculty Senate agenda made by Britt Fagerheim. Seconded by Ronda Callister. Moved to Faculty Senate.

Honors Program
Honors has experienced higher enrollment. Getting better students applying and recruiting high achieving, high school juniors. Admitted twice as many current and transfer students. Success with external scholarships has increased as well.
Motion to move to the Faculty Senate agenda made by Mark McLellan. Seconded by Jeanette Norton. Moved to Faculty Senate.

Libraries Advisory Council
The library advisory council’s role is to advise the Library dean in E-learning, library policies, and interpreting needs of library. The council met twice last year. Brad Cole is now Dean of University Libraries.

A writing center (satellite) has opened in the Library. Data services and open educational resources have been shared with the USU campus community.
Motion to move to the Faculty Senate agenda made by Leslie Brott. Seconded by Lisa Gabbert. Moved to Faculty Senate.

Motion to talk about the new testing center and Regional Campus usage/concerns (Robert Wagner) made by Ronda Callister. Seconded by Kimberly Lott. Testing Center will be added to the Faculty Senate agenda. Motion to talk about Library Data Services (Betty Rosum) made by Juan Villalba. Seconded by Ronda Callister. Data Services will be added to the Faculty Senate agenda.

Parking Committee
The parking committee formulates parking policies and consists of seven faculty/staff and five student members. Last year there were several huge projects:
- CPD Building Removal
- Clinical Services Construction
- Tunnel Project
- New Housing Project

These projects required parking committee to look at parking in those areas. Removed student parking and increased faculty parking. Students were moved to the UPR parking area and allowed faculty and staff to park in the state vehicle parking lot. New state vehicle lot will be set up near parking and transportation. Welcome center parking lot has been redesigned and opened with the completion of the building. Four electric charging stations are in the lot and two more are in the Aggie parking garage. Charging stations are being added as needed and are being installed as quickly as possible. Redesigned Edith Bowen Laboratory School pickup and drop off due to projects. Building new parking lot in Blue Square. Over 200 construction employees and an increase in adjunct professors on campus are adding to the parking issues.
Motion to move to the Faculty Senate agenda made by Britt Fagerheim. Seconded by David Brown. Moved to Faculty Senate.

New Business
Student Code of Conduct
Student code revision committee undergoing massive overhaul of student code. Need to update sexual misconduct policies that need to get to the Board of Trustees for the October meeting.

a) USU Amnesty Policy
   No barriers to student reporting or getting help/treatment.

b) USU Policy on Confidential Resources and Request for Confidentiality and Anonymity
   What to do when an act of sexual misconduct happens? How to report? How to handle anonymity? Definitions are included to help know who to go to and to make it easier to understand

c) Changes to Section V-6, Recording and Disclosure of Disciplinary Penalty Notation will still go on the student’s transcript at the end of the process. At the end of the disciplinary process information will be given to the dean of the new school.

d) Changes to Section V-5, Misconduct Proceedings and Section VIII, University Regulations Regarding Hearing Board (addition of new USHE policy)
Allow advisors and attorney in formal hearings. Advisor will write the question and commit to the chair of the board. Chair will vet the question and will work with General Counsel. Changes for this section is coming from the Utah System of Higher Education.

C. Actions originating from the Academic Standards Subcommittee:

From the January 21, 2016 Meeting:

A. Excused Absence Policy
After a couple years of input from numerous constituencies, a final committee version of a revised excused absence policy was approved. The revised language for the general catalog is the following:

Attendance & Excused Absences

Introduction
Instructors set course content and structure and are responsible for determining if a student has met the minimum requirements for completion of the course. The university views class attendance as an individual student responsibility. Students are expected to attend class and to complete all assignments in accordance with individual instructor and course policies. The excused absence policy does not guarantee that a student’s absences from a course will not negatively impact his or her success in the course. Furthermore, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that excused absences do not conflict with clearly established instructor policies on course attendance and participation.

There are multiple mechanisms that should be considered if absence from a class is necessary:

- Incomplete (I) Grade: If a student is unable to complete all of the coursework because of extenuating circumstances, a grade of “I” (Incomplete) may be submitted by the instructor. Refer to Incomplete policy for details.
- Withdrawal: Students may drop courses without notation on the permanent record through the first 20% of the class (i.e. 3 weeks of a 15-week term). If a student drops a course after that initial grace period, a “W” will be permanently affixed to the student’s record. After 60% of the class is completed (i.e. 9 weeks of a 15-week term), the student’s academic advisor must sign any drop request, and a “W” with a grade assigned by the instructor will be entered on the student’s permanent record. Under normal circumstances, a student may not drop a course after 75% of the class is completed. (Check General Catalog for exact dates.)
- Excused Absence: An absence may be excused for the reasons and in accordance with the procedures outlined below. Students who are requesting an excused absence are expected to uphold the Student Code of Conduct.

Excused Absences

Reasons
A student requesting an excused absence is responsible for providing evidence to the instructor substantiating the reason for absence.

Excused absences may not exceed 20% of the class meetings.

Among the reasons absences are considered excused by the university are the following. Note that in accordance with Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972, Utah State University shall treat pregnancy and related conditions as a justification for an excused absence for so long a period of time as is deemed medically necessary by the student's physician. Questions about Title IX should be directed to the University Title IX Coordinator.

University Supported Participation

1. Participation in a university-sponsored or sanctioned activity.
2. Mandatory participation as a student-athlete in NCAA-sanctioned competition.

Injury, Illness, Medical Condition/Status

3. Injury, illness, or medical condition/status that is too severe or contagious for the student to attend class.
   a. Injury or illness of 3 or more days. For injury or illness that requires a student to be absent from classes for three or more class meetings, the student should obtain a medical confirmation note from his or her medical provider. The Student Health & Wellness Center or an off-campus medical professional can provide a medical confirmation note only if medical professionals are involved in the medical care of the student. Medical documentation can be collected after the absence has occurred. The medical confirmation note must contain the date and time of the visit for the injury or illness and the medical professional's confirmation of needed absence.
   b. Injury or illness less than 3 days. Faculty members may require confirmation of student injury or illness that is serious enough for a student to be absent from class for a period less than 3 or more class meetings. At the discretion of the faculty member, as outlined in the course syllabus, injury or illness confirmation may be obtained through a note from a health care professional affirming the date and time of visit. Medical documentation can be collected after the absence has occurred.
   c. An absence for a non-acute (e.g., elective) medical service does not constitute an excused absence.
4. Major injury, illness, or medical condition/status in a student's immediate family (as defined in Policy 346.1 of the USU Policies Manual).
5. A death in a student's immediate family (as defined in Policy 346.1 of the USU Policies Manual).

Other Allowable Reasons

6. Required participation in military duties, including mandatory medical appointments for veterans and military personnel.
7. Mandatory admissions interviews for professional or graduate school, or internships, that cannot be rescheduled.
8. Religious holy day.
9. Participation in legal proceedings or administrative procedures that require a student's presence.

Procedures

Students may be excused from attending class on the day of a graded activity or when attendance contributes to a student's grade, for the reasons stated above or for other reasons deemed appropriate by the student's instructor. For reason #1 (Participation in a university sponsored or sanctioned activity) or #2 (Mandatory participation as a student-athlete in NCAA-sanctioned competition), a dean or vice president (or the designee) must provide a letter for the student to provide to instructors that verifies the student’s absence as excused.

Student

Excused absence notifications should be provided to instructors as soon as possible. In some cases, such as athletics or other university-sponsored and sanctioned events with known schedules, instructors should be informed during the first week of classes. Instructors have the right to deny any request that exceeds 20% of class sessions.

To be excused, the student must notify his or her instructor in writing (acknowledged e-mail message is acceptable) prior to the date of absence if such notification is feasible. In cases where advance notification is not feasible (e.g. accident or emergency), the student must provide notification by the end of the second working day after the absence. This notification should include an explanation of why notice could not be sent prior to the class. Accommodations sought for absences due to the observance of a religious holiday can be sought either prior to or after the absence, but not later than two working days after the absence. On request of the instructor, the student must provide additional documentation substantiating the reason for the absence, which is satisfactory to the instructor, within one week of the last date of the absence.

Instructor

Instructors are under no obligation to provide an opportunity for the student to make up work missed because of an unexcused absence.

If the absence is excused, the instructor must either provide the student an opportunity to make up any quiz, exam, or other work that contributes to the final grade or provide a satisfactory alternative by a date agreed on by the student and instructor. Students with an excused absence shall be “held harmless” and benefit from all classroom policies. In some cases, such as classes that include time-dependent group, field, lab, or studio work, instructors are not required to recreate a precisely equivalent experience, but should identify a suitable alternative that respects both their own and the student’s time and meets educational goals.

Any make-up work must be completed within 14 calendar days of the last day of the initial absence.

Appeal Procedures

A student may appeal an instructor’s decision that an absence is unexcused if the student believes either that he or she has presented the instructor with adequate substantiating evidence for an excused absence (as outlined in this policy) or that the instructor’s decision was arbitrary, capricious, or prejudicial. Any appeal must be initiated within three class days of the instructor’s decision. In the appeal process, the burden of proof shall be on the student. Any student appeal must be submitted to the following persons or bodies in the sequence listed below:

1. The head of the academic department in which the course is offered;
2. The dean or designee of the college in which the course is offered;
3. The Provost (in the case of an appeal by an undergraduate student), or the Dean of the School of Graduate Studies (in the case of an appeal by a graduate student).
B. Family Member in Class Policy

By request of the faculty senate president, the committee reviewed the report from the Academic Freedom and Tenure committee that addressed the potential conflict of interest when instructors teach family members. Several concerns were voiced regarding the potential conflict of interest if family members take a class from a related professor:

- The potential for bias exists, but it is small.
- The issue would rarely be a problem.
- If the class in “conflict” is rarely taught, or a pre-requisite for additional courses, the resultant delay to student progress would not be acceptable.
- In many cases, it is not practical---nor more fair--to ask a DH, colleague, nor TA to grade a family member’s tests/quizzes. In some cases, such as a multiple-choice exam, it would not be difficult to grade fairly. In other cases, it would be very difficult (e.g., major writing assignment).

The committee discussed the ways in which the appearance of bias could be mitigated. Students can appeal any grade and there is currently a path for remedy in the student code. It was suggested that faculty be made aware of potential problems with teaching family members and be cautioned but the committee approved a motion to not craft specific policy regarding this issue.

From the April 7, 2016 Meeting:

- The committee agreed to not impose a cap on summer credits. Details of the committee discussion are as follows:

In a series of meetings this past spring and fall, the Academic Standard Subcommittee of the Educational Policy Committee decided not to pursue a reduced credit-cap for the summer semester.

An instructor suggested that the committee consider a modified cap. She argued that while students are subject to an 18-credit cap that they may not exceed without an advisor’s permission during the fall and spring terms, the same cap (18 credits) makes less sense during the summer as the summer term is shorter. That is, a 3-credit class over a 15 week term is different than a 3-credit course over a 7 week term.

The committee was hesitant to move toward imposing a summer-cap for four reasons.

First, it was rare. There were few cases of students actually exceeding a suggested (proportional to the length of the term) credit cap of 9 credits. Please see the attached chart that shows the breakdown of the number of credit hours.

Second, it did not impact outcomes. There was not a relationship between total credits and outcomes (grades). The primary issue with students taking too many courses in the summer was that their educational outcomes would be damaged. That was not observed in the summer 2015 data.

Third, there are course sequences in the summer that would violate the credit cap. The summer term includes many courses that are non-traditional. Specifically courses in study abroad and internships.
Finally, of less overall importance to the committee, was the fact that such a credit-cap would be difficult to implement. Currently, Banner considers summer a single term, rather than two practical terms. So, it would require manual (and after-the-fact) assessment as to the limit. Had the data shown a need to enforce a lower cap for summer we would have spent more time working out a way to do so.

The Academic Standards Subcommittee of the Education Policy Committee makes the following four recommendations:

- Advising. Advisors and instructors work closely and guide students who may not be prepared to take a heavy course-load in a 7-week term.

- Instructors Resources. The provost’s office include content related to this issue in future trainings (e.g. new faculty teaching academy) and current resources for instructors (e.g. provost’s office course syllabus webpage).

- Student Resources. The catalogue should include a specific summer-credit load advisory (e.g., three-credits in 7 weeks will not require less effort than 3-credits in 15 weeks, students are encouraged to consider time-intensity when selecting summer courses).

The NCAA released the first Graduation Success Rate (GSR) for all teams of all NCAA Division I Member Institutions in December, 2005. This rate, a 4-year average that can be directly compared to the Federal Rates’ 4-year average mentioned above, is a more accurate snapshot of how scholarship student-athletes graduate. Students who transfer to USU that fall into one of the cohorts are counted in this rate (they are not counted in the federal rate) when they graduate; students who transfer from USU and are academically eligible at the time of transfer do not count against USU graduation rates (as they do with the federal rate). The overall USU GSR for the 4-year cohorts encompassing 2005-2008 is 87%.

POLICY REGARDING CONTACT BETWEEN ATHLETICS STAFF MEMBERS AND UNIVERSITY ACADEMIC STAFF/FACULTY MEMBERS

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is an integral part of the university and its mission at large. The Department’s mission, in part, is to embrace the pursuit of the intellectual inquiry, educational discovery and the academic success of its student-athletes. In this regard, the Department encourages involvement of its administrative and coaching staff members in the lives of the university’s student-athletes. This is vital to the development of the student-athletes as productive members of society. Such involvement may include taking an interest in a student-athlete’s academic pursuits at the university. In doing so staff members must respect the individual rights of the student and the integrity of the system. To assist its staff members, the Department has implemented this policy regarding Department staff members’ involvement in certain aspects of student-athletes’ academic pursuits.

Within the context of assisting student-athletes with their academic affairs, staff members must strictly abide by the Department’s policy. In areas that are not specifically addressed in the policy, staff members must make prudent judgments regarding their level of involvement in a student-athlete’s academic life so as to avoid even the appearance of impropriety. Staff members must realize that even the most innocent contact with an academic official may be perceived as pressure to make a concession for a student-athlete (simply because the individual is an athlete). Any such perceived pressure compromises the integrity of the Department and the university and further hinders the student-athlete’s success at the university and in life.

In keeping with the Department’s general policy regarding involvement of the Department’s staff members in the academic pursuits of student-athletes, the following specific actions and similar actions are strictly prohibited:

- Coach-initiated contact of any type (e.g., oral, written, etc.) is not permitted between any member of the coaching staff and any Utah State University faculty member or associated instructional staff (teaching assistant, part time lecturer, etc.) with respect to any student-athlete. Coaching staff members may however, contact the Student-Athletes Academic Services staff in this regard.
- Coach-initiated contact of any type is not permitted between any member of the coaching staff and any Utah State University staff member (e.g., Dean’s office, registrar, academic department secretary, etc.) as it relates to the academic standing of any student-athlete in a particular course or in general.

In addition:
- Only student-athletes shall turn in their assignments (e.g., term papers, take-home exams, homework, etc.) to their professors or instructors. Under no circumstances shall any staff member (including student managers, graduate assistants, directors of operations, volunteer coaches, etc.) hand in an assignment on behalf of a student-athlete.
• All contact with faculty members or instructional staff, if necessary, should be handled by the Student-Athlete Academic Services Staff. Please note that contact (telephone, e-mail, etc.) initiated by a professor, instructor, assistant dean, etc. to a coaching staff member or administrator is permitted. If this contact includes discussion of a student-athlete’s performance in a course, performance on a particular assignment (including quizzes, tests and exams) or a student-athlete’s grade in a course, such contact must be referred to the team’s academic sport counselor immediately.

• All contact with the admissions staff regarding specific student-athletes and their admission status is strictly prohibited under this policy. Any contact with admissions about a specific student-athlete must be made by the Academic Support Staff.

• This policy does not apply to contact with an instructor, professor, assistant dean, dean, admissions liaison, etc. that is general in nature (i.e., contact that is not specific to a particular student-athlete).

SUMMARY OF FEC ACTIVITIES 2015-2016

The FEC was concerned with four primary issues:
1) The name of the Undergraduate Advisor of the Year award
2) The shortcomings and benefits of the IDEA evaluation instrument and possible recommendations for improving its use in light of the IDEA Survey implemented in 2014-15.
3) Review and discuss the criteria and selection process for Teacher of the Year, Advisor of the Year, and Faculty University Service awards
4) Selection of the recipients for Teacher of the Year, Advisor of the Year, and Faculty University Service awards

A summary of FEC accomplishments this year include:
1) Recommendation to change the name of the Undergraduate Advisor of the Year award to the Undergraduate Mentor of the Year award.
2) Developed six recommendations to the Faculty Senate related to the future use of the IDEA evaluation instrument;
3) Selected the recipients for the Teacher of the Year, Advisor of the Year, and Faculty University Service awards;
4) Reviewed and discussed the criteria and selection process for Teacher of the Year, Advisor of the Year, and Faculty University Service Awards

DISCUSSION OF FEC ACTIVITIES 2014-2015

1) IDEA teaching evaluation: review and recommendations

The IDEA evaluations appear to be most effectively implemented at the department level. Consequently, the committee recommends that department heads be more intimately involved in implementing them. It was felt that the evaluations should continue to be conducted using the current on-line method and that departments should consider customizing response time, switching off the e-mail reminders, and/or creating class assignments in Canvas for students to complete the evaluations. Further, it was felt that individual departments that offer technical courses should consider developing and adopting a customized evaluation instrument that is more appropriate for evaluating their faculty; that the IDEA evaluations should not be conducted for courses with too few students enrolled in them (the recommended threshold number of students in a class is five); that department heads should be reminded to weigh the IDEA student evaluations between 30% and 50% when evaluating the quality of teaching by individual faculty members; and that untenured faculty should be encouraged to use the long form if they wish to receive information that may be useful in improving their teaching. Finally, the members of the FEC are of the opinion that the IDEA evaluations are more valuable in assessing departments and/or programs as a whole rather than of individual faculty members.
2) Teacher and Advisor of the Year

The FEC reviewed nomination materials and selected recipients for the Eldon H. Gardner Teacher of the Year, the Advisor of the Year, and the Faculty University Service awards. The FEC found that the current nomination guidelines worked well; no further revisions are recommended at this time.

Activities:
1)  Approved September 2015 minutes
2)  Discussed the results of the IDEA survey circulated among teaching faculty and department heads, as well as offered various opinions concerning shortcomings and benefits of the IDEA evaluation instrument and possible recommendations for improving its use. The committee came up with the following list of issues and recommendations:
   a.  The IDEA student evaluations gauge student perceptions, yet they are used by department heads as a measure of evaluating teaching effectiveness. Perhaps a policy limiting the importance of the IDEA evaluations to a relatively low percentage of the effectiveness of an individual faculty member’s teaching would at least be a partial solution to this potential problem.
   b.  Two common complaints among the respondents to the survey are that some faculty have difficulty in obtaining a sufficiently large proportion of students in a particular course to make the results statistically meaningful, and that the evaluations are “self-selecting/sorting” in that students who are dissatisfied with the instructor or course are more likely to respond. Also, students have complained about receiving excessive e-mail messages about completing their evaluations. Perhaps a solution to this problem is conducting the evaluations only in class, either electronically when possible or using “hard” (paper) forms. This would also allow instructors to schedule the evaluations at a time late in the semester, preventing students from completing their evaluations when they might be upset over some aspect of a particular course.
   c.  Because there are only two truly peer institutions currently using the IDEA instrument, perhaps the questions could be customized and the comparison with peer institutions could be eliminated.
d. There were other questions among the committee members concerning the flexibility of the IDEA student evaluation instrument with regard to the ability of faculty to customize and/or streamline the specific questions that are asked. The committee agreed to invite Michael Torrens to our next meeting so he could answer specific questions related to this issue and we could learn what is possible.

Activities:
1) Approved October 2015 minutes.
2) Decided to change the name of the Undergraduate Advisor of the Year award to the Undergraduate Mentor of the Year award.
3) Discussed the IDEA evaluation instrument and possible recommendations for improving its use with Michael Torrens. He answered questions posed by the committee members present related to possible improvements of the instrument based on the survey of teaching faculty and department heads conducted last semester. He also provided information about the instrument of which the committee members in attendance were not previously aware. The salient points are summarized below:
   a. Questions can only be added to the IDEA evaluations; existing questions cannot be changed or eliminated.
   b. While it is possible to conduct the evaluations using hard copy (paper) forms rather than the current on-line method, the two methods cannot be combined. In other words, the evaluations would have to be conducted exclusively either in class using paper forms or on-line. If paper forms are used exclusively, then the evaluations would have to be administered by each individual department.
   c. The response time window for the IDEA student evaluations can be customized by individual departments. In other words, the time period during which students may complete the evaluations can be determined individually by each department. Furthermore, departments can switch off the e-mail reminders that students have complained about. Finally, it is possible to create a class assignment in Canvas for the students to complete the evaluation.
d. The applicability of the IDEA evaluation instrument to technical courses is admittedly limited. It was suggested that such classes should develop and adopt a different and more appropriate instrument.

e. In order to produce meaningful statistical results, the recommended threshold number of students in a class using the IDEA evaluation instrument is five.

f. With respect to the concern that the IDEA student evaluations may be weighted too heavily by department heads in evaluating the quality of teaching by individual faculty members, the committee members were informed that the recommendation is to weigh it between 30% and 50%.

g. With respect to the concern that untenured faculty do not receive any useful information for improving their teaching from the results of the IDEA student evaluations, it was suggested that such faculty use the long form rather than the more commonly used short form.

4) The committee discussed what recommendations related to the future use of the IDEA evaluation instrument it should make to the Faculty Senate. The following were proposed:

a. The IDEA evaluations appear to be most effectively implemented at the department level. Consequently, the committee recommends that department heads be more intimately involved and pro-active in implementing them.

b. The evaluations should continue to be conducted using the current on-line method. However, departments should consider customizing response time windows individually, switching off the e-mail reminders, and/or creating class assignments in Canvas for students to complete the evaluations.

c. Individual departments that offer technical courses should consider developing and adopting a customized evaluation instrument that is more appropriate for evaluating their faculty.

d. The IDEA evaluations should not be conducted for courses with too few students enrolled in them. Not only are the data not statistically meaningful, but it is difficult to preserve anonymity in such classes. The recommended threshold number of students in a class is five.

e. Department heads should be reminded to weigh the IDEA student evaluations between 30% and 50% when evaluating the quality of teaching by individual faculty members.

f. Untenured faculty should be encouraged to use the long form if they wish to receive information that may be useful in improving their teaching.

g. Finally, the members of the FEC are of the opinion that the IDEA evaluations are more valuable in assessing departments and/or programs as a whole rather than individual faculty members. If there are consistent comments for improving multiple courses taught by various faculty members, then it is recommended that the department head or program manager implement measures for making such improvements.

- Jeff Banks (Extension)
- Scott Allred (Regional Campuses)
- Thomas Buttars (USU/SA Executive Vice President)
- Ty Aller (USU/SA Graduate Studies Senator)

Activities:
1) Approved November 2015 minutes.
2) Briefly discussed the procedure for re-naming the Undergraduate Advisor of the Year award as the Undergraduate Mentor of the Year. The committee chair will contact the president of the Faculty Senate to initiate the process of changing the name.
3) Also discussed the procedure for presenting the FEC’s recommendations for the future of the IDEA student evaluation instrument to the Faculty Senate. The committee chair will also contact the president of the Senate regarding this matter. There was some additional discussion concerning the process and wisdom of making the IDEA survey a class assignment. A new point was made that IDEA does not allow students to provide a quantitative evaluation of an individual faculty member’s use of Canvas.
4) Discussed the Teacher of the Year, Advisor/Mentor of the Year, and Faculty University Service Awards.
a. The committee considered the wisdom and practicality of using scoring grids similar to those developed by the College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences. After some discussion, it was decided that individual committee members are free to use such grids, but that the committee as a whole would continue to simply rank each candidate for each of the three awards from highest (1) to lowest (8) for the purpose of selecting the recipient for each award.
b. There was a brief discussion of whether to divide the members of the committee into three groups with each group selecting the recipient for one of the awards to reduce the workload. The committee decided to postpone making this decision until its next meeting when all of the application materials will have been submitted.
c. It was pointed out that the Teacher of the Year requires that applicants must teach at least one undergraduate course, which excludes those faculty who only teach graduate-level courses. It was suggested that perhaps a new award should be considered for implementation that would recognize the graduate teacher of the year.

5) Scheduled the next two meetings:
   a. Thursday, February 18, 2016  12:00 to 1:15  DE 202
   b. Tuesday, March 1, 2016  12:00 to 1:15  DE 202
1) Approve January 2016 minutes
2) Discuss proposal to reduce committee size
3) Teacher of the Year, Advisor/Mentor of the Year, and Faculty University Service awards
   a. Critique of modified procedure for accessing application materials
   b. Nominee for Faculty University Service award from Extension
   c. Discuss status of nominees who exceed page limits
   d. Decide whether to divide committee members up into groups that will only evaluate applicants for specific awards
Minutes from Faculty Evaluation Committee (FEC) Meeting
18 February 2016, 12:00-1:15pm (DE 202)

Present:
Kit Mohr (Education & Human Services)
Curtis Dyreson (Engineering)
Mary Conner (Natural Resources)
Tom Lachmar (Science, Chair)
Dory Cochran (Libraries)
Elias Perez (USU Eastern)
Joan Kleinke (ex officio)

Absent:
Clay Isom (Agriculture and Applied Sciences)
Nathan Washburn (Business)
Raymond Veon (Caine College of the Arts)

Jeff Banks (Extension)
Scott Allred (Regional Campuses)
Thomas Buttars (USU/SA Executive Vice President)
Ty Aller (USU/SA Graduate Studies Senator)
Ashley Waddoups (USU/SA Student Advocate)

Activities:
1) Approved January 2016 minutes.
2) Briefly discussed Faculty Senate proposal to reduce committee size. For the FEC the only change would be that three of the committee members would also be members of the Faculty Senate. Joan Kleinke stated that the reason for this proposed change is to reduce the number of faculty serving on committees.
3) Teacher of the Year, Advisor/Mentor of the Year, and Faculty University Service awards
   a. Demonstrated procedure for accessing application materials from Excel spreadsheet files. Veteran committee members expressed appreciation for improvements made since last year.
   b. Discussed the case of the nominee for the Faculty University Service award from Extension. Committee unanimously approved accepting his nomination despite his very small (5%) administrative role. Committee decided to handle such situations on a case-by-case basis in the future.
   c. Discussed the status of nominees who exceed the page limits. It was proposed, and agreed upon, to only read the first 40, 20 and 16 pages, respectively, for nominees for the Teacher of the Year, Advisor/Mentor of the Year, and Faculty University Service awards.
   d. It was suggested, and agreed upon, that the photographs of the nominees should not be included among the materials that the committee reviews.
   e. It was decided that the committee members should be divided up into two groups for evaluating nominees for the three awards. All committee members will review all of the application materials for the Teacher of the Year award; however, each member will only review the materials for nominees for one of the other two awards. Specifically, Nathan Washburn, Cacilda Rego, Mary Conner, Elias Perez, Thomas Buttars, Ty Aller and Ashley Waddoups will review the materials for the Advisor of the Year award in addition to the Teacher of the Year, and Clay Isom, Raymond Veon, Kit Mohr, Curtis Dyreson, Dory Cochran, Jeff Banks and Scott Allred will review the materials for the Faculty University Service award in addition to the Teacher of the Year.
