Admission Requirements For This Major

1. New freshmen admitted to USU in good standing qualify for admission to this major.
2. Transfer students from other institutions need a 2.5 total GPA for admission to this major in good standing.
3. Students transferring from other USU majors need a total GPA of 2.5 for admission to this major in good standing.

Anthropology Program

Anthropology is the integrated study of humans in all their aspects. It offers a broad framework for understanding humans as individuals and as members of widely varying societies through courses dealing with the biological evolution of humans, prehistoric culture change, and present diversity of cultures and human populations. Two parallel goals of the discipline are to explore and develop an appreciation for human diversity and the shared legacy of our common humanity.

Anthropology includes the following subspecialties: cultural anthropology, biological anthropology, archaeology, and linguistics. Major requirements are designed both to encourage broad exploration across anthropology and more in-depth learning of one subspecialty. Students who major in anthropology examine a wide range of peoples and cultures, both past and present. They study lifeways as different as the hunter-gatherers of Ice-Age Europe, tribal horticulturalists of lush interior Amazonia, and the diverse ethnic neighborhoods of modern U.S. cities. They explore both the biological and cultural basis of human behavior, and examine how it is manifested in individuals and groups. Anthropology courses use both scientific and humanistic approaches to the study of humankind, in all its complexity. Courses emphasize critical reasoning, oral and written communication skills, and the expansion of thinking beyond the familiar.

The contemporary social science student lives in a world of diminishing cultural and national barriers. In this setting, a major in anthropology can lead to a wide variety of careers. Anthropologists are on the staff of leading medical, business, law, public affairs, and other professional schools, and have played critical roles in international ventures, public health programs, community development activities, and minority and migrant social actions. Additionally, anthropology serves applied interests in international development, archaeology and cultural resource management, cross-cultural health care, and osteology/forensics. With first-hand experience in every region of the country and around the world, anthropologists bring a unique understanding of specific social and ethnic groups and of the biological, ecological, and cultural factors that influence human behavior.

Special features of the anthropology program include smaller classes, individualized attention, opportunities for laboratory, museum, and field work, and the opportunity of working in teaching assistant positions. All these features give anthropology majors choices and experiences unavailable to undergraduates in most programs. The Anthropology Museum and Field Schools provide additional hands-on learning opportunities. Anthropology participates in the Department of Geology emphasis in Geoarchaeology, the American Studies Program, and the Folklore Program in the Department of English.

Anthropology Mission Statement

The mission of the Anthropology Program at Utah State University is to prepare students for careers requiring skills and knowledge from a synthesis of the liberal arts and natural sciences. Graduates in anthropology are broadly thinking individuals exhibiting intellectual depth, effective reading and writing skills, and the ability to solve problems spanning the humanities, the natural sciences, and the cultural diversity characteristics of the modern world.

Program Learning Goals

Disciplinary Knowledge

1. Know the nature, intent, and scope of anthropology (cultural, biological, archaeology, linguistics).
2. Attain depth in one of the following subfields: cultural, biological, archaeology.
3. Know how science and humanities paradigms pertain to anthropological theory and method.
4. Be familiar with the cultures of a major world region.
5. Develop recognition of and respect for human differences.

Methods of Inquiry

1. Be able to compare and contrast major theoretical perspectives.
2. Become familiar with a range of anthropological methods.
3. Be able to apply methods specific to one of the subfields: cultural, biological, archaeology.

Skills and Career Competencies

1. Comprehend reading material appropriate to course levels.
2. Communicate effectively in written and oral forms.
3. Conduct library research using modern methods.
4. Use a computer for written work and for research.
5. Be able to think critically about issues requiring a synthesis of perspectives from the humanities and the sciences in a culturally diverse world.

Career Opportunities

Anthropology leads to a variety of "real-world" jobs. Anthropology graduates are: lawyers, nurses, health care administrators, travel consultants, teachers of all kinds, cultural resource professionals, agency and program administrators, and technical writers. They work for museums, government land management, environmental and Foreign Service agencies, Indian tribes, and are common in both the government and private sectors of the environmental-cultural heritage protection industry. They can be found in public and private foundations, bureaus, and agencies for the arts, humanities, sciences, and tourism.

Graduate study in anthropology opens the world of practicing anthropology. Not limited to college teaching, anthropologists with graduate degrees can be found in a variety of private sector and government agency positions.

For students seeking a dual major, an Anthropology major can complement a major in American Studies, Biology, Geology, Geography, History, Languages, and Political Science. It also pairs well with majors in Natural Resources, because cultural resource and Native American issues are important to many positions in private firms and government agencies concerned with land management and the environment.

Degrees and Programs Offered Through This Department

- Sociology: Bachelor of Science (BS), Bachelor of Arts (BA)*, Master of Science (MS), Master of Arts (MA), and Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)
- Social Work: Bachelor of Science (BS), Bachelor of Arts (BA)*, and Master of Social Work (MSW)
- Anthropology: Bachelor of Science (BS)<sup>1</sup>, Bachelor of Arts (BA)* and Master of Science (MS)
- Social Sciences: Master of Social Sciences (MSS)

Academic Advisement

Upon declaring the anthropology major, each student is assigned an advisor. For an orientation to the major, new students should meet with any anthropology faculty member. Students are strongly encouraged to meet with their advisor at least once per semester to review their academic progress, plan their program, and discuss postgraduate opportunities. Students are encouraged to consult with their advisor about course selection, academic programs, program requirements, and any other aspect of their college experience.

Questions concerning University Studies requirements should be directed to the College of HASS Advising Center, Taggart Student Center 302, 797-3883.

Anthropology Website

Students are strongly encouraged to use the Anthropology Home Page on the internet at: <http://www.usu.edu/anthro/> to obtain information about the program. The website describes all aspects of the program, including information about requirements, more detailed course descriptions than those in the USU General Catalog, tentative course schedules for the coming year, funding opportunities, information about hands-on opportunities in the program, and information about graduate school and employment.

Honors Option

Academically able students who would like to experience anthropology in greater depth are encouraged to enroll in Departmental Honors. Honors students will have the opportunity to work one-on-one with professors in select classes in anthropology. Through original, independent work, students will go beyond the basics and enjoy the benefits of close supervision and mentoring. The senior project will be another opportunity to collaborate with a faculty member on a problem that is significant personally and in the student's discipline. Participating in Departmental Honors will enhance students' chances of obtaining fellowships and admission to graduate school. The campus-wide Honors program (<http://www.usu.edu/honors/>), which is open to all Honors students, regardless of major, offers a rich program of cultural and social activities, special classes, and the benefit of priority registration. Honors students are also eligible to participate in Lambda Alpha, the local chapter of the National Honor Society in anthropology.

Departmental Honors Advisor:

David Lancy
Main 245D, (435) 797-1322

Eligibility for Acceptance:

Qualified students must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.3 and must have declared a major or minor in the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Anthropology.

Program of Study:

- The 16-credit requirement for the Honors degree includes:
1. Nine upper-division Honors credits in anthropology courses.
  2. One credit of ANTH 5980, Senior Project (must be taken in conjunction with a 4000/5000-level course), in consultation with the instructor of that course. (See Anthropology website or Departmental Honors advisor for specific instructions and deadlines).
  3. Three credits of HONR 4900, Senior Thesis/Project.
  4. The balance of the upper-division Honors credits (16 credits) can be taken outside the department.

Requirements for Completion of Degree:

A cumulative GPA of 3.3 and a GPA of 3.5 in upper-division major requirements and Honors coursework is required for graduation with Departmental Honors. A senior Honors Thesis/Project and presentation of the results in a public forum (e.g., Student Showcase, Departmental colloquia, professional meetings) are also required.

Graduation Requirements: BS<sup>1</sup> and BA* Degrees in Anthropology

Minimum University Requirements**

Total credits	120
Grade point average (most majors require higher GPA)	2.00 GPA <sup>2</sup>
Credits of C- or better	100
Credits of upper-division courses (#3000 or above)	40
USU credits	30
(20 of which must be upper division, including 10 required by major)
Completion of approved major program of study	See department
Credits in minor (if required by department)	12
Credits in American Institutions (ECN 1500; HIST 1700, 2700, or 2710; POLS 1100; or USU 1300)	3
University Studies requirements	See below

*A BA degree requires foreign language training. A grade of C or better is required for courses counting toward the major. For further information, see the General Catalog.

**Colleges and departments may require more credits or a higher GPA. See requirements on this sheet.

<sup>1</sup>Students planning to receive a BS degree must complete STAT 1040, Introduction to Statistics (3 credits); and two courses selected from a list of courses approved by the Anthropology Program. A grade of C or better is required for courses counting toward the major.

University Studies Requirements for Anthropology Major

Note: Approved University Studies courses and requirements are listed in the General Catalog. The most current listings are shown online at: <http://www.usu.edu/generalcatalog/>

General Education Requirements (30-33 credits)

Competency Requirements (9 credits)

Communications Literacy (CL1 and CL2) (6 credits)

ENGL 1010 (CL1) (3 credits) or satisfactory AP, CLEP, IBO, ACT, or SAT score

AND

ENGL 2010 (CL2) (3 credits) or satisfactory IBO score

Quantitative Literacy (QL) (3 credits)

STAT 1040, which is required for the Anthropology BS degree, will meet this requirement.

Computer and Information Literacy (0 credits)

Passing grade on six computer and information literacy related examinations. (Effective Spring Semester 2010, students must fulfill this requirement prior to enrolling in ENGL 2010.)

Breadth Requirements (18-20 credits)

Select at least one approved course from each of the following six categories: American Institutions (BAI), Creative Arts (BCA), Humanities (BHU), Life Sciences (BLS), Physical Sciences (BPS), and Social Sciences (BSS). At least two of the six breadth courses must be University Studies courses with a USU prefix (excluding USU 1000, 1010, 1100, 3330, 4900, and 6900). (CLEP or AP credit may be used.) ANTH 1010, 1030, or 2010 will fulfill the Social Sciences requirement and ANTH 1020 will fulfill the Life Sciences requirement for students in the Anthropology major.

Exploration Requirement (3-4 credits)

Choose an additional class from one of the following General Education categories: QL, BAI, BCA, BHU, BLS, BPS, or BSS.

Depth Education Requirements

Communications Intensive (CI) (2 courses)

Two courses having a CI designation (such as ANTH 3130, 3200, and 3310) will meet this requirement.

Quantitative Intensive (QI) (1 course)

Completion of a course having a QI designation (such as ANTH 5250) will meet this requirement.

Depth Course Requirements (4 credits minimum, including 2 credits minimum completed in each of two courses)

Complete at least 2 credits in approved 3000-level or above courses from each of the following two categories: Humanities and Creative Arts (DHA) and Life and Physical Sciences (DSC).

Anthropology Major

Minimum GPA for Admission: 2.5, Career

Minimum GPA for Graduation: 2.5, major requirements, including BS and BA required courses; 2.0, Career

Minimum Grade Accepted: C in major requirements, including BS and BA required courses

Number of Required Credits: 39

Other Requirements: BS candidates must complete STAT 1040 and other BS courses with a grade of C or better. BA candidates must complete foreign language courses with a grade of C or better.

Students majoring in anthropology must maintain a minimum 2.5 overall GPA in anthropology courses. A grade of C or better must be attained in all courses counted for the major, including foreign language and BS required courses. Required and elective courses are grouped and clearly distinguished in the section below entitled Course Requirements and Electives.

Anthropology Course Numbering System. The course subdiscipline within anthropology is identified by the second digit in the four-digit course number. Cultural anthropology courses use a 1 (e.g., ANTH 3160, Anthropology of Religion), biological/biomedical anthropology courses use a 2 (e.g., ANTH 3200, Perspectives on Race), and archaeology courses use a 3.

Methods Component. Majors must complete one methods course (designated as “methods” in course list below). The course chosen to meet this requirement may also count toward other anthropology major requirements.

Residence. A minimum of 16 credits of the anthropology course credits counting toward the major must be Utah State University courses. Credits from other institutions and from USU distance and residence centers are subject to departmental approval for application toward the anthropology major.

Foreign Language and Statistics Recommendation. Anthropology majors are encouraged to complete both the foreign language (BA degree) and the statistics requirements (BS degree), especially if they are contemplating graduate study. However, this is not required.

Course Requirements and Electives

A. Required Courses (13 credits)

Credits

- ANTH 1010 (BSS) Cultural Anthropology (F,Sp; or F,Sp,Su online) . . . 3
- ANTH 1020 (BLS) Biological Anthropology (F) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 1030 (BSS) World Archaeology (F; or Sp online) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 1099 Resources in Anthropology at USU (F) . . . . . 1
- ANTH 4980 History and Theories of Anthropology (F or Sp) . . . . . 3

B. Anthropology Tracks

Each student must select a track from among the three subspecialties in anthropology listed below and complete a minimum of three upper-division courses (these may include ANTH 2010 and 2330) and the capstone course in that specialization. Capstone courses are offered every other year, so students should schedule their coursework accordingly.

1. Cultural/Applied Anthropology (6 credits minimum/12 for Cultural/Applied Track)

Cultural/applied anthropology encompasses a wide range of topics and interests, ranging from the broadly comparative and explanatory to the deeply interpretive and meaning-centered. Theoretical orientations and the methods “tool-kit” used to conduct research in cultural anthropology vary accordingly. While many anthropology graduates pursue further study, perspectives and skills learned in the courses listed below also make anthropology majors well-suited to a variety of “real world” jobs. Options include (but are not limited to) positions in social service agencies (both governmental and private); public educational institutions (such as museums and folk-life centers); ethnic, cultural, and immigrant organizations; elementary and secondary schools; health care agencies which serve diverse populations; foreign service and foreign aid agencies; businesses with international and interethnic dimensions; and diversity training programs.

- Credits
- ANTH 2010 (BSS) Peoples of the Contemporary World (Sp) . . . . . 3
  - ANTH 3110 North American Indian Cultures (F) (Distance) . . . . . 3
  - ANTH 3130 (CI) Peoples of Latin America (F) . . . . . 3
  - ANTH 3150 Applied Anthropology Survey: History, Uses, Methods, and Careers (Methods) (F,Sp) . . . . . 3
  - ANTH 3160 (DSS) Anthropology of Religion (F) . . . . . 3
  - ANTH 4110/6110 (DSS) Southwest Indian Cultures, Past and Present (Sp) (Distance) . . . . . 3
  - ANTH 4120 (CI/DSS) Anthropology of Childhood (Methods) (Sp) . . . 3
  - ANTH 5100/6100 (DSS) Anthropology of Sex and Gender (F) . . . . . 3
  - ANTH 5130/6130 Ethnographic Field School (Methods) (Su) . . . . . 3-6
  - ANTH 5190/6190 Applied Anthropology Practicum . . . . . 1-5

Cultural/Applied Capstone:

- ANTH 4990 Contemporary Issues in Anthropology (Sp) . . . . . 3

2. Biological/Biomedical Anthropology (6 credits minimum/12 for Biological/Biomedical Track)

Biological/biomedical anthropology explores topics in human biology ranging from evolutionary history to modern biocultural diversity. Coursework provides students with a foundation in human biology and evolutionary ecology, along with hands-on experience in the analysis of human and animal bones from ancient and modern contexts. In conjunction with allied courses in archaeology, cultural anthropology, and biology, biological/biomedical anthropology can prepare students for advanced training in medicine, public health, medical anthropology, archaeology, bioarchaeology, primatology, museology, and forensics, as well as for one of the many career opportunities listed above. The following courses are recommended as allied courses: Biology I and II (BIOL 1610, 1620), Human Physiology (BIOL 2420), Human Anatomy (BIOL 2320), and General Ecology (BIOL 2220).

Credits

- ANTH 3200 (CI/DSS) Perspectives on Race (Sp) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 3250 Osteology (Methods) (F) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 4230 (DSS) Medical Anthropology: Matter, Culture, Spirit, and Health (Sp) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 4800 ST: Evolution of Disease (F) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 5210 Physical Anthropology Lab (Methods) . . . . . 1-3

Biological/Biomedical Anthropology Capstone:

- ANTH 5250/6250 (QI) Problems in Bioarchaeology (Methods) (Sp) . . . . . 3

3. Archaeology/Cultural Resource Management (6 credits minimum/12 for Archaeology/CRM Track)

Employment in archaeology requires hands-on field and laboratory experience, familiarity with archaeological method and theory, and the knowledge of the laws regarding cultural resources. Undergraduates can gain this experience in Utah to lay the foundation for fieldwork opportunities in other world regions, as well as to explore specialty areas in archaeology. Upon graduation, archaeology leads to employment as a field/lab archaeologist in the western U.S. and opens opportunities for work on foreign archaeological projects. Employment also is found in cultural resource management for government agencies, and in archaeological education programs with agencies, museums, and parks. Graduate study leads to specialty areas including (but not limited to) bioarchaeology, geoarchaeology, historical archaeology, paleoecology, geographic information systems (GIS), zooarchaeology, and lithic, ceramic, and botanical studies. Students pursuing archaeology interests in anthropology should ask their advisor for a list of allied courses offered at USU.

Credits

- ANTH 2330 (BSS) Principles of Archaeology (required for Archaeology Track) (Sp) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 3300 (DSS) Archaeology in North America (Sp) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 3350 (DSS) Archaeology of Ancient Civilizations (Sp) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 3360 (DSS) Utah Archaeology (F) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 3370 (DSS) Archaeology of Prehistoric Europe (F) (Distance) . . . . . 3
- ANTH 5320/6320 Zooarchaeology (Methods) (Sp) (Brigham City) . . . 3
- ANTH 5330/6330 Geoarchaeology (Methods) (Sp) . . . . . 3

Archaeology/CRM Capstone:

- ANTH 5380/6380 Peopling of the New World (Sp) . . . . . 3

C. Departmental Electives

Note: Departmental electives do not count toward minor requirements. Methods courses require permission of the instructor.

Students planning to receive a BA degree must demonstrate proficiency in one foreign language by successful completion of one course at the 2020-level or higher (or its equivalent) or must demonstrate proficiency in American Sign Language by successful completion of American Sign Language IV (COMD 4920) and Socio-Cultural Aspects of Deafness (COMD 4780), and by passing an exit Interview or must demonstrate proficiency in two foreign languages by successful completion of the 1020 course level in one language and the 2010 course level in the second language (or its equivalent) or must complete an upper-division (3000-level or higher) foreign language grammar or literature course requiring the 2020 course level (or its equivalent) as a prerequisite. Conversation courses cannot be considered for satisfying this requirement.

Students planning to receive a BS degree must complete STAT 1040 (Introduction to Statistics), and two courses selected from a list of courses approved by the Anthropology Program.

Anthropology majors are encouraged to complete both the foreign language and statistics requirements.

Anthropology Minor
(minimum of 18 credits with 2.5 GPA in minor)

Students minoring in anthropology must maintain a minimum 2.5 overall GPA in anthropology courses. A grade of C or better must be attained in all courses counting toward the minor.

A minimum of 12 anthropology credits counting toward the minor must be Utah State University courses. Credits from distance and residence centers are subject to departmental approval for application toward the anthropology minor.

B. Breadth-in-Anthropology Structured Track Electives
(Groups 1, 2, or 3) (9 credits minimum)

In addition to the required courses, students must complete a minimum of 9 credits (ANTH 2010, 3000-5000 level courses) in anthropology from the Structured Track Electives in: (1) Cultural/Applied Anthropology; (2) Biological/Bio-medical Anthropology; or (3) Archaeology/Cultural Resource Management. (Departmental Electives do not count toward minor requirements).

Requirement Changes

Graduation requirements shown on this sheet are subject to change. Students should check with their departments concerning possible changes.
