C. Association of Public Land-Grant Universities Board of Directors and APLU Convocation

President Albrecht reported that he recently attended the Association of Public Land-Grant Universities Board of Directors meetings and APLU Convocation in Washington D.C., which focused on the 150th anniversary of President Lincoln signing the Morrill Act. He said there were excellent speakers. The common theme was to recommit ourselves to the values reflected in the Morrill Act. It was defined as the most important legislation passed by the U.S. Congress, rivaled only by the GI Bill passed after World War II. Prior to 1862, higher education was largely private and very expensive, thus denying access to higher education by the working class. The Morrill Act was first passed in 1858, but was vetoed by President Buchanan. It came before Congress again in 1862, and was signed by President Lincoln, and it changed public access to education. President Albrecht stated that we currently see a loss of commitment and recognition of the public good that comes from higher education. All who attended the meetings had renewed commitment to the values of access to higher education and the opportunities it provides.

D. Mountain West Conference

Chair Jibson congratulated USU on the success of being included in the Mountain West

IV. Action Agenda

A. Proposal from the Department of Geology, College of Science, and the Department of Watershed Sciences, College of Natural Resources, to add a “Geomorphology and Earth Surface Processes” Specialization to their Respective MS and PhD Degrees in Geology and Watershed Sciences

Vice Provost Michelle Larson stated that the Department of Geology and the Department of Watershed Sciences propose adding a specialization to their Masters and PhD degrees in their respective departments. Their faculty have expertise in this area, they work together across colleges and departments, and they want to provide a resource for graduate students to specialize and have it noted on their graduation degrees. They have developed an interdisciplinary perspective amongst students which will be helpful in the workforce. It allows them to appreciate the challenges and solutions that can be proposed across disciplines.

Action: Trustee Foxley moved approval of Resolution 12-6-15 the proposal from the Department of Geology, College of Science, and the Department of Watershed Sciences, College of Natural Resources, to add a “Geomorphology and Earth Surface Processes” specialization to their respective MS and PhD degrees in Geology and Watershed Sciences (Appendix O). Trustee Watterson seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

B. Proposal from the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Anthropology, College of Humanities and Social Sciences, to offer a Minor in Criminal Justice

Vice Provost Larson indicated that the proposal from the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Anthropology to offer a minor in Criminal Justice is a product of the partnership between USU-Eastern and USU. The Criminal Justice program was in existence at USU-Eastern prior to the merger and is represented by strength of faculty there. This brings a minor that can be offered to all students in the USU system.
Chair Jibson asked what resources were required to expand the Criminal Justice program to the entire University. Department Head, Leon Anderson, stated that one of the advantages of this minor is the availability of qualified faculty in Criminal Justice at the USU-Eastern campus as well as faculty in the Department of Sociology at the Logan campus. Some courses will be broadcast, and on-line technology will be used for instructional delivery as well. Much of the instructional costs will be absorbed by student enrollment in the departments. Regional Campus and Distance Education (RCDE) has offered to provide additional funding for courses offered at the USU-Eastern campus and Sociology courses from the Logan campus.

Department Head Anderson reported that 50 students have already shown interest in taking the courses, even before the program has been officially announced. He said that within a couple of years, enrollment is expected to be at 200. Students from Sociology will benefit, and it will also be a valuable minor for students in Psychology, Family Studies, and Education.

Chair Jibson said the proposed Criminal Justice minor is an example of the synergy created as a result of the merger of the College of Eastern Utah and USU, and expressed congratulations for providing this program.

Action: Trustee Pierce-Moore moved approval of Resolution 12-6-16 the proposal from the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Anthropology, College of Humanities and Social Sciences, to offer a minor in Criminal Justice (Appendix P). Trustee Johnson seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

C. Proposal from the College of Engineering to Establish the Center for Engineering Education Research

Vice Provost Larson stated that the proposal from the College of Engineering to establish the Center for Engineering Education Research builds on a decade of success in Engineering Education. It will build on the PhD program they offer, which is one of very few in the country. The Center will focus on Engineering Education at the higher education level, taking into consideration best practices for teaching engineers in college classrooms.

She stated that there have been discussions concerning the need for Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) education. The College of Engineering is responding to that goal and working with the faculty who are experts in Engineering Education to bring this Center to fruition.
Chair Jibson expressed congratulations for establishing the Center for Engineering Education Research, and noted its importance in connection with STEM programs.

Action: Trustee Thrapp moved approval of Resolution 12-6-17 the proposal to establish the Center for Engineering Education Research Center (Appendix Q), and Trustee Pierce-Moore seconded the motion. The voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

D. Proposal to establish the Center for Society, Economics and Environment (CSEE)

Vice Provost Larson stated that establishing the Center for Society, Economics and Environment was a collaboration across the entire University and particularly three colleges. The Center will help strengthen social science and human environment interaction. The purpose of the Center is to provide an information and research resource for the community, the region, and the nation. It is a contact point at USU for agencies and communities dealing with social science and human environment interaction. It will demonstrate how our work interfaces with society.

Trustee Pierce-Moore asked how students would be informed that the Center is available. Paul Jakus, Head of the Department of Applied Economics, stated that a web site is being designed. They are working with the USU Library to take advantage of the digital commons for a permanent repository deposit for past and future research. They have funding from the Agricultural Experiment Station and the College of Humanities and Social Sciences to meet with federal and state government agencies throughout the state to inform them about the Center.

Vice Provost Larson explained that digital commons is a repository which provides public access to the research of our faculty. Digital commons clears copyrights and provides that product free to anyone.

Department Head Jakus stated that this is an outgrowth of the former Economic Research Institute in the old Department of Economics. He said the entire series is being digitized and added to the system. The Center will open with a historical base of research conducted at USU.

Action: Trustee Waterson moved approval of Resolution 12-6-18 the proposal to establish the Center for Society, Economics and Environment (CSEE) (Appendix R), and Trustee Peczuh seconded the motion. The voting was unanimous in the affirmative.
E. Proposal from Utah State University Research Foundation (USURF) to Re-appoint Research Foundation Board Members

President Albrecht said there could be as many as four members of the USU Research Foundation Board of Trustees whose terms expire in the next six months. It is recommended that Dean H. Scott Hinton and Dr. David A. Bell be reappointed for an additional three years each. These two members bring areas of expertise to the Board which are important, and re-appointing them will help with continuity.

He said there has been some discussion concerning downsizing the Board, and rather than replacing four members, they may replace two or three members. President Albrecht indicated that the Board will lose a significant part of the Washington, D.C. presence, and candidates are being vetted to help fill that role.

Action: Trustee Nixon moved approval of Resolution 12-6-19 the proposal from the Utah State University Research Foundation (USURF) to re-appoint Research Foundation Board Members (Appendix S). Trustee Pierce-Moore seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

F. Proposal to Approve USU Eastern Blanding Campus Student Multi-Purpose Recreational Court

Associate Vice President Dwight Davis stated that a 75-unit residence hall is being constructed on the San Jaun campus in Blanding. For some time, the students in that area have requested a recreational facility. There are currently no similar recreation facilities proximate to the Blanding campus. By building these two facilities at the same time, we will be able to recognize some economies of scale. Over the past few years, the students have raised over $200,000 for a recreation facility.

The proposed student multi-purpose recreational court will include an indoor recreation court with a full-size basketball and volleyball court which can be used in winter and summer, and for student events.

Associate Vice President Davis indicated that there are two phases – the construction phase and the funding phase. The proposal brought to the Trustees is for the construction phase and requires approval also from the Board of Regents and State Building Board. The funding phase will need to be approved by students at the Blanding campus, and that will take place fall semester.
The recreation court is a relatively small project, and funding will be through an internal loan that will be re-paid by student fees. Associate Vice President Davis said the cost of the recreation court project was listed at $625,000. He met with the project manager, and if additional options are added, the cost could be more than $800,000.

Chancellor Peterson added that the Blanding campus is popular with the Native American students in Blanding, and the lack of housing has been problematic. He said that since his appointment, he has been constantly lobbied by students to move forward with recreation facilities. He feels certain the students will approve the student fees. Chair Jibson stated that the $200,000 already raised by students is indicative of their support.

Action: Trustee Foley moved approval of Resolution 12-6-20 the proposal to approve USU Eastern Blanding Campus Student Multi-Purpose Recreational Court (Appendix T). Trustee Pierce-Moore seconded the motion and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

Trustee Watterson asked if exercise equipment would be provided in the building. Associate Vice President Davis said exercise equipment will be available in the student housing unit. It could be included in the recreation court as an additional option which will be considered. Most of the students want a large facility where they can play basketball, volleyball, and other sports.

G. Proposed Amendments to the Utah State University Policy Manual, Sections 405.7.2 and 4.5.8.3, Procedures Specific to the Tenure Process, External Peer Reviews

Vice Provost Larson stated that the proposed changes to the Faculty Code are specific to the tenure and promotion process in order to bring it more up-to-date with an academic strength at USU – the variety in faculty. She said USU has faculty whose role statements are primarily research, others whose are primarily teaching, and faculty whose role statements are primarily career and technical education. The role statements allow us to take advantage of faculty strengths and help to make USU a comprehensive research university. The previous Code language required external reviewers to review the faculty member on research, whether or not research was the primary area of emphasis. The amendments change the language to ask external reviewers to review faculty members being recommended for promotion and tenure on their primary area of emphasis – research, teaching, career and technical education, extension, or librarianship.
She stated that language is also added to allow external reviewers to comment on the secondary area of emphasis. This allows us to take advantage of the strengths of faculty.

Action: Trustee Pierce-Moore moved approval of Resolution 12-6-21 the proposed amendments to the Utah State University Policy manual, Sections 405.7.2 and 4.5.8.3, Procedures Specific to the Tenure Process, External Reviews (Appendix U). Trustee Foley seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

Action: Trustee Foxley moved that the meeting adjourn, and Trustee Foley seconded the motion.

Chair Jibson expressed appreciation to those who participated in the meeting and expressed congratulations for those items which were approved.

The Regular Meeting adjourned at 10:45 a.m.
