IV. Action Agenda

A. Proposal from the Department of Communicative Disorders and Deaf Education, Emma Eccles Jones College of Education and Human Services, to Offer an American Sign Language Teaching Minor

Trustees received information concerning the American Sign Language Teaching Minor (Appendix HH). Provost Coward stated that Communicative Disorders and Deaf Education is one of the strongest programs in a strong department. There is a great deal of excitement concerning the teaching minor in American Sign Language.
Head of the Department of Communicative Disorders and Deaf Education, Kim Corbin-Lewis, stated that the minor would attach to Secondary Education teaching licenses and will add value for students. In the state of Utah, American Sign Language requires a few more courses and fills the language requirement. Graduates can then teach at the high school level.

Trustee Foxley said he has worked with Sorensen Media, which uses technology which started at USU. It hires a large number of signers for the deaf. He stated that the sign language program at Utah State is a stellar program in the nation and expressed his congratulations.

Action: Trustee Foley moved approval of Resolution 12-5-11 the proposal from the Department of Communicative Disorders and Deaf Education, Emma Eccles Jones College of Education and Human Services, to offer an American Sign Language Teaching minor (Appendix HH). Trustee Pierce-Moore seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

B. Proposal from the College of Agriculture and the College of Natural Resources to Offer a Minor in Sustainable Systems, Effective Fall 2012

Trustees received information concerning the Minor in Sustainable Systems (Appendix II). Provost Coward stated that the College of Agriculture and the College of Natural Resources are joining to offer a minor in Sustainable Systems. He said the USU campus, the community, the state, the nation, and the world continues to pay more attention to sustainable systems.

Vice President Cockett stated that there is support for a program in Sustainable Systems from both students and faculty. The program is designed so that students in any University major can declare the Sustainable Systems minor in their undergraduate program. The distinction of the USU program is that it will apply the principles and values of sustainability in specific systems. The University of Utah and Westminster have Sustainable programs. The USU program is unique in applying principles and values of sustainability directly. There is a lot of interest from students, and it is anticipated that students will add the minor as soon as it is approved.

Department Head of Landscape Architecture and Environmental Planning, Sean Michael, emphasized that the Sustainable Systems program reaches out to students across the campus. There are three different system areas they can go into. Six to eight departments have been involved over the past year in the proposal.
Action: Trustee Johnson moved approval of Resolution 12-5-12 the proposal from the College of Agriculture and the College of Natural Resources to offer a minor in Sustainable Systems, effective Fall 2012 (Appendix II). Trustee Thrapp seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

C. Proposal to Establish a Science, Technology, Engineering, Education and Mathematics (STE²M) Center

Trustees received information concerning the establishment of a Science, Technology, Engineering, Education and Mathematics (STE²M) Center (Appendix JJ). Provost Coward stated that this proposal provides an opportunity to bring together groups from around campus to focus on particular areas. USU’s unique niche is strong programs in Engineering, Science, Agriculture, Natural Resources, and a world-class College of Education. Many STE²M centers focus either on Education or on Science. USU is combining the strengths of both Education and Science.

Vice Provost Michelle Larson indicated that the faculty have been working toward this for years. The Center will be campus-wide and include all of the Colleges. Due to budget cuts in recent years, state funding was not available. A presentation was made to the Foundation Board to determine whether they would be supportive of a STE²M Center. A number of the Board were supportive personally or professionally, and helped raise $500 thousand which will fund the Center for the first two years. This will give the University time to identify ongoing resources to sustain the Center in the future. It is a great program bridging academic interests across the campus. A national search is being conducted for a director.

Annette Herman Harder stated that the Foundation Board is composed of several business people who are aware of the global competitiveness in finding researchers and scientists to fill high-level positions nationwide which has resulted in moving many corporations to other countries. The Foundation Board is hopeful that USU can establish a Center that will have a unique niche, and members were willing to put their personal resources and energy behind it and help raise money to get the Center off the ground. She indicated that almost 100% of Board members participated. They also opened doors for seeking additional funds.

Chair Jibson stated that there has been a lot of discussion recently in different venues about the importance of the STE²M concept. He expressed appreciation to the Foundation Board for getting the STE²M Center at USU established.

Trustee Johnson stated that statistics report that only 4% of U.S. students graduate in Engineering compared to 56% in Asia. That is why many major corporations establish research centers in Asia. Young students need to get excited about math and science. Provost Coward said that is why USU is focusing on partnering with the College of Education. It is critical to have educational colleagues involved.
Trustee Johnson said that a few years ago Governor Leavitt established six early college high schools which are primarily STE²M. Provost Coward mentioned that the Science High School in Logan is currently in Washington, D.C. participating in a national competition.

Action: Trustee Holland moved approval of Resolution 12-5-13 the proposal to establish a Science, Technology, Engineering, Education and Mathematics (STE²M) Center (Appendix JJ), and Trustee Foley seconded the motion. The voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

D. Proposal from USU-College of Eastern Utah (USU-Eastern) to Create the *Center for Workforce Development

Trustees were given a proposal to create the Center for Workforce Development at USU-Eastern (Appendix KK).

Joe Peterson, Chancellor of USU-Eastern, said when the merger with USU occurred, the University acquired a number of programs administered through the College of Agriculture focused on developing select types of human capital needed in regional and local economic enterprises. Skill sets should be available specific to business needs including welding, machining, auto repair, heavy equipment, trucking, and drafting. In order for the program to flourish, coordination between local businesses and the educational institution is required. A location must be developed where the constituencies plan together and interface to determine needs and be more effective. He said there is a facility on the CEU campus on a prominent street with public access. Resources on the community side include the Department of Workforce Development, Economic Development officers, and major employers in the region. The College side will involve student recruitment, academic services, and administrators. The Center will bring the College to a new level of engagement in the community and will result in a new level of appreciation from the community.

Action: Trustee Peczuh moved approval of Resolution 12-5-14 the proposal from USU-College of Eastern Utah (USU-Eastern) to create the Center for Workforce Development (Appendix KK). Trustee Johnson seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

E. Utah State University 2012-2013 Budgets

Vice President Cowley reviewed the USU 2012-2013 Budgets (Appendix LL). The total of the 2012-2013 state appropriated budget is $283 million. Revenue sources include state tax funds at $160 million, tuition at $117 million, mineral lease/trust lands, federal funds, and other funds. He stated that increasingly more tuition dollars are supporting students. Ten years ago we received $3.5 in state funds for every dollar of tuition. Today we receive $1.30 from the state for every dollar of tuition. The state still funds 60% of the cost of instruction.

Vice President Cowley briefly mentioned the following budget items:

- Mineral lease funds which fund the Water Research Lab
- Federal funds which fund the Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension
- Line items – the importance of using line items as appropriated
- E & G state-appropriated budget – the largest line item and mostly supports the Logan campus
- Regional Campuses and USU-Eastern line items were listed

Vice President Cowley said for the three previous years the budget received cuts from the Legislature, so this is the first time in four years that there is new money. This year the state appropriated budget contained just under 3% additional ongoing funding for USU including:

- $1.8 million from state tax funds to support a 1% cost of living increase
- $850 thousand mission-based funding which is new to higher education
- $415 thousand for equity funding
- $1 million Regional Campus and Distance Education funding (Nursing program which will be primarily at USU-Eastern)
- $800 thousand O & M for the Business Building

Trustee Foxley asked about the $180 salary increase for health insurance premiums. Vice President Cowley said that the $180 will cover the highest increase for the employee portion of premiums. President Albrecht stated that the central budget will cover the additional increase in health insurance premiums. USU expects health insurance costs to increase 8%.

Vice President Cowley reviewed the Auxiliary Enterprises budget and said Auxiliaries operates on a self-supporting basis. He said the Bookstore does not currently make a lot of profit, but has the potential to do significantly better over time. Money needs to be put away for renovation, repair, and replacement. It is important that the Bookstore has all the books needed by students, but there is competition of books sold on-line at a lower cost as well as electronic books. There was discussion about the merchandising side, and the Bookstore becoming more of a campus retail merchandise store.

Vice President Cowley reported the following:

- USU did not receive O & M funding for the Emma Eccles Jones College of Education Early Childhood building, the Bingham Entrepreneurship and Energy Research Center in Vernal, or the Equine building, and will request O & M funding from the Legislature for the third time next year

- Service Enterprises is breaking even
- The Athletics budget will be in the black in 2012 for the third straight year. This is an improvement from a few years ago

Utah Science Technology and Research (USTAR) Funding – Vice President Behunin reported that USTAR was originally funded $19 million by the Legislature, but that amount dropped to $13 million during the budget cuts. He stated that $6 million was restored to USTAR this year. USU and the University of Utah will split $3 million one-time ongoing – in the past the split has been 60% for the University of Utah and 40% for USU, so $1.2 million will be USU’s share. The other $3 million one-time money will be for strategic projects and funding will be determined.

Action: Trustee Foley moved approval of Resolution 12-5-15 the USU 2012-2013 Budget (Appendix LL). Trustee Burnett seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

F. Faculty and Staff Adjustment

Trustees were given an addendum to Faculty and Staff Adjustments (Appendix MM). Provost Coward said the appointment of Regan Zane as a Professor with tenure in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering is a new USTAR hire. Dr. Zane’s appointment will be funded through USTAR.

Action: Trustee Burnett moved approval of Resolution 12-5-16 the Faculty and Staff Adjustment (Appendix MM), and Trustee Nixon seconded the motion. The voting was unanimous in the affirmative.

Action: Trustee Scott Watterson made a motion to adjourn the Regular Meeting and to reconvene Executive Session. Trustee Foxley seconded the motion, and the voting was unanimous.

The Regular Meeting adjourned at 11:15 a.m.
