

This NASA image is an artist's conception of NASA's Ares I, left, and Ares I-X rockets.

Science series to explore rockets, energetic materials

ROBERT WARDLE, director of research and development at ATK Launch Systems, will present "Rockets and Energetic Materials" as part of USU's Science Unwrapped series at 7 p.m. Friday, Aug. 28, in the Eccles Science Learning Center auditorium on campus. For more information, visit www.usu.edu/science/unwrapped or call 797-3517.

Following Wardle's presentation, attendees are invited to the USU Quad to view launches of a variety of different rockets and enjoy free refreshments. Hands-on activities for children will be provided.

The presentation is part of Science Unwrapped's "Windows on the Cosmos" series, which celebrates the International Year of Astronomy and continues through fall 2009. Presentations are held the last Friday of each month.

Wardle

Country star Juni Fisher coming to Montpelier

JUNI FISHER WILL perform at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 28, at the Allinger Community Theatre in Montpelier, Idaho. Tickets are $11; doors open at 7 p.m.

Fisher grew up in the San Joaquin Valley of California. A horse-crazy kid, she grew up in a farming family, and between school and singing performances with her two sisters, she found a way to have horses; 4-H and FFA honors followed her throughout her school years.

She recorded her first Western release, "Tumbleweed Letters," in late 1999 and her second album, "Slideshow Romance," was released in the summer of 2004. "Cowgirlography" (2006) features the 2007 WMA Song of the Year winner — a duet with San Joaquin's Joe Hannah — and received a WMA Top Five nomination for Album of the Year. Alone with her guitar she weaves story and song in seamless, unforgettable lyrics and melodies.

For more information, call 208-847-3800. Tickets can also be purchased at www.oregontrailcenter.org.

Looking for a restaurant?

Let GOTbiz point you in the right direction.

Search for places in Logan

Restaurant_

Go to hjnews.com and click on the GOTbiz logo.

