

Successful STUDY GROUPS

Study with others to stay engaged, accountable, and improve recall.

Who?

Find 3-5 classmates interested in studying together. Ask around, check with your professor, or connect through online class chats and breakout rooms.

When?

Set a consistent time (60-90 minutes works best). Meet weekly for better results, allow time to chat, and offer online options.

Where?

Pick a quiet spot for discussion with whiteboards and outlets. Reserve a study room at USU Libraries or use Zoom to include others.

How?

Set an agenda, stay focused, quiz each other, and teach for better comprehension. Respect and value everyone's contributions.
