Levels of Reading

Directions: Survey your semester classes using your syllabi and determine the level of reading needed for each. List the classes at each level. (Remember, analytical reading is especially for classes where many or most of the exam questions come from the textbook. Skimming may be enough if the textbook is merely a resource. Concentrate on the sections where you need more depth or clarification of concepts.)

Classes:__________________________________________

Classes:__________________________________________

Classes:__________________________________________

Classes:__________________________________________

Classes:__________________________________________

Time/Effort
(Greater understanding)