1. Describe the engagement opportunity in your community that you plan to address.

Describe the research you have conducted to better understand the issue in the context of the community where you will be working (e.g., interviewed local stakeholders, reviewed local media coverage of the topic, researched existing non-profits). What did you learn from this research? Is this opportunity already being addressed? If so, how and by whom? What opportunities have the community identified? How might your education and experience be used to address these opportunities?

2. Community Action Project Description:

After researching the opportunities in your community, describe how your Community Action Project will address a specific opportunity. What community partner(s) will you work with? Define the project goals, objectives, and deliverables. What is the timeline for completion? Will you need to write a small grant or fundraise for your project? If so, how do you plan to do that?

3. Explain how this project relates to your major(s), minor(s), or emphases.

4. How will your project continue after you graduate? What plans are you including so that others can carry on or benefit from your work?
