Dennis Briscoe is principal/CEO of Derby Strategies, LLC, a consulting practice specializing in international expansion and international collaboration. A two-time alumnus of USU, he has long supported the university’s international students by providing them a “home away from home” environment – even opening his home to an international student who did not have a place to stay. Briscoe also invites international students to share their perspectives with local community groups like the Cache Valley Morning Rotary Club. He is known for his kind heart, his work in diversity and inclusion and his love for his community.
