About Us

Fraternalities and sororities have been an influential and important component of the undergraduate student experience at USU for over 100 years. When fraternities and sororities function in accordance with their stated values and adhere to the USU Fraternity & Sorority Life (FSL) Relationship Agreement, the entire University community receives positive benefits from their student leadership, involvement, service, and the various positive developmental benefits from individual members.

“I believe there’s a place for everyone in Fraternity & Sorority Life. If you’re at Utah State, you’re already an Aggie, but if you’re at Utah State and in FSL, you’re the Aggie-est of Aggies”

-Ian Nemelka (FSL Advisor)

Our Vision

We envision Fraternity & Sorority Life (FSL) at Utah State University as a dynamic community that empowers individuals to build lifelong connections, grow through leadership and service, and make lasting contributions to their campus and beyond.

Our Mission

1

Endeavor to make Utah State University a better place for everyone

2

Facilitate the co-curricular development of FSL members

3

Promote the growth of the FSL community and its chapters

Our Value

Fraternity and sorority life (FSL), plays a significant role in the vibrant tapestry of university communities. These organizations provide students with a sense of belonging, personal growth, and opportunities for leadership and service that extend well beyond their college years. For universities, they are invaluable in fostering a sense of community and connection among students.

Moreover, FSL organizations are crucial in cultivating leaders and promoting a culture of philanthropy and service. Members of fraternities and sororities frequently engage in various community service activities, volunteering their time and resources to make a positive impact beyond the campus. This spirit of giving back not only benefits local communities but also reflects positively on the university itself. It showcases a commitment to producing well-rounded graduates who are not only academically accomplished but also socially responsible citizens.

Furthermore, FSL contributes to the campus experience by offering students a chance to connect with peers from different backgrounds and interests. These organizations often host a wide range of events and activities, promoting inclusivity and broadening the horizons of their members.

The bonds formed in fraternities and sororities often lead to lifelong friendships, and these networks can enhance students' overall college experience.

The value of fraternity and sorority life lies in its ability to create a supportive, tight-knit community within the larger university setting that benefits both the institution and the surrounding community.

Our Councils

Interfraternity Council (IFC)

An IFC exists where there are two or more North American Interfraternity Conference (NIC) members, or associate member fraternities on a campus. The Council's purpose is to advance fraternity interests and values on campus and provide interfraternal leadership to the entire community. The Council is advised by the FSL Advisor.

College Panhellenic Council (CPC)

A College Panhellenic Council is established where there are two or more National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) sororities, or associated sororities on campus. The purpose of the Council is to promote and advance the interest of women's-only sororities. The Council is advised by the FSL Advisor.

Our Community

Fraternalities and sororities have a long history at Utah State. As membership, interest, and resources eb and flow over time, so too do the type, number, and specific organizations that make up the entirety of the FSL community.

Because of these varying circumstances, the recognized chapters at USU have been divided into three categories for simplicity and the purposes of this report.

Outgoing chapters are those that were, during the course of one or more semesters, recognized student organizations, but will not be in the indefinite future.

Current chapters are those who are currently recognized student organizations at USU.

Incoming chapters are those who have expressed interest in becoming chapters at USU or who are currently in the process of doing so.

Our Chapters

Each of our chapters is unique, with its own values, symbols, traditions, and personality—but all share a common goal: to help their members grow and thrive. We're proud of every chapter and the distinct way each one contributes to our Fraternity & Sorority Life community. Together, they create a vibrant, supportive, and purpose-driven experience at Utah State.

Alpha Chi Omega: ΑΧΩ

Alpha Chi Omega sorority empowers women to become real, strong leaders through sisterhood, academic excellence, and service. Their national philanthropy focuses on domestic violence awareness and prevention. Members graduate prepared to make a positive impact on the world.

Kappa Delta: ΚΔ

Kappa Delta sorority inspires confidence and friendship while fostering personal growth through leadership, service, and campus involvement. Their philanthropy supports Prevent Child Abuse America and The Family Place. Members strive to seek that which is honorable, beautiful, and highest in all they do.

Sigma Alpha: ΣΑ

Our newest Sorority on campus, Sigma Alpha is a professional agricultural sorority focused on scholarship, leadership, service, and fellowship for women pursuing careers in agriculture. The chapter fosters connections and development for future industry leaders.

Alpha Sigma Phi: ΑΣΦ

Alpha Sigma Phi (Alpha Sig) is committed to "Better the Man" by fostering brotherhood and personal character development rooted in silence, charity, purity, honor, and patriotism. They welcome a broad range of men seeking personal growth. Their vision is to better the world through better men.

Alpha Tau Omega: ΑΤΩ

Alpha Tau Omega (ATO) offers brotherhood, leadership, and personal growth opportunities for men looking to make a meaningful impact. Founded on strong values,, members of the chapter at USU join a lifelong network committed to integrity and service.

Pi Kappa Alpha: ΠΚΑ

Pi Kappa Alpha (PIKE) strives to develop men into Scholars, Leaders, Athletes, and Gentlemen with a focus on integrity and achievement. As one of the largest national fraternities, PIKE helps members excel on campus and beyond. Their brotherhood prepares members for success in all areas of life

Sigma Phi Epsilon: ΣΦΕ

Sigma Phi Epsilon (SigEp) promotes the Balanced Man Program, focusing on continuous development of a sound mind and sound body. Utah Alpha is known for leadership and involvement across campus. Members experience personal growth from day one as they strive to live by their creed "this fraternity will be different."

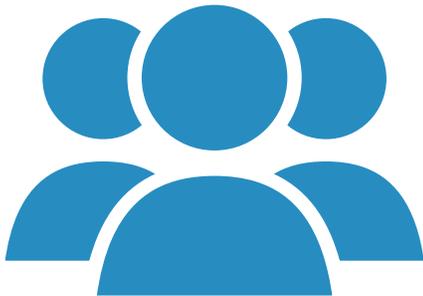

A Year in Review

Each semester, chapters are required to submit a Semester Summary Report (SSR) which asks for a variety of information regarding the chapter's activities and milestones over the past semester. These are a few 2024-2025 highlights from the aggregate community results derived from the reports, as well as data pulled from the semesterly grade checks.

Individual Impact

“Greek life has always been part of my plan—my entire family has been involved, and it’s something I’ve looked forward to for years. When I came to Utah State, I knew I wanted to find my forever sisters.”

Jessi Anderson

Tyson Holman

“I think that my chapter values have pushed me to live the best life I can and improve the lives of others.”

“It can be challenging to feel different from the majority of those around you, but my sorority helped me find a sense of home here in Logan, Utah.”

Michie Phan

Summary

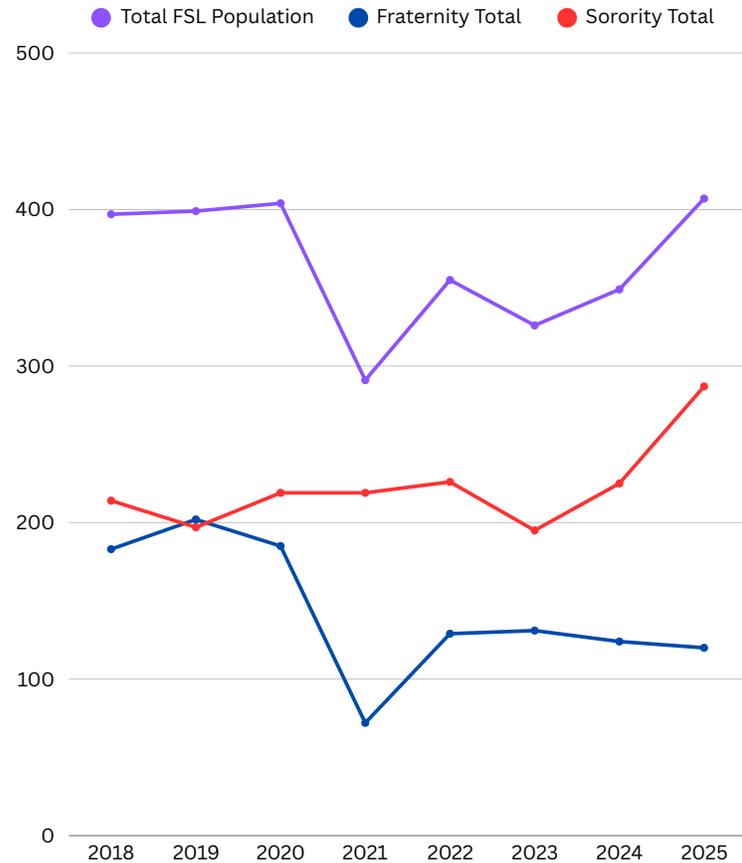

Utah State University's Fraternity and Sorority Life program has undoubtedly made significant strides the 2024-2025 academic year. These milestones include:

- A complete overhaul and enhancement of the USU FSL Relationship Agreement.
- The implementation of Fraternity & Sorority Institute (FSI) for new members, our first ever Greek Orientation program.
- The reestablishment of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity, our first fraternity addition in 7 years!

Our community is demonstrating incredible progress in both anecdotal and quantitative indicators.

Despite these advancements, FSL still faces ongoing challenges in its quest to achieve true vitality and excellence such as shrinking fraternity membership and a lack of housing equity amongst prospective Panhellenic sororities.

By embracing challenges as opportunities for growth, Utah State University's Fraternity and Sorority Life is poised to continue its upward momentum—creating an even more enriching, supportive, and impactful experience for every student involved.
