About Us

For over a century, fraternities and sororities have been a vibrant cornerstone of the Utah State University experience. When our Greek community aligns with its founding values and the USU Relationship Agreement, it becomes a powerful catalyst for good—uplifting the entire campus through exceptional leadership, community service, and profound personal growth. These organizations do far more than foster a sense of belonging; they unlock our students' greatest potential. USU is immensely proud to support our Fraternity and Sorority Life community as they empower Aggies to become the absolute best versions of themselves.

"MORE THAN JUST AN EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITY, BEING GREEK IS THE BEDROCK OF AN ENHANCED UNIVERSITY EXPERIENCE. A RESILIENT FOUNDATION OF BROTHERHOOD, SISTERHOOD, AND PERSONAL GROWTH THAT ELEVATES YOUR ENTIRE COLLEGE JOURNEY."

-IAN NEMELKA | FSL ADVISOR

Our Vision

We envision Fraternity & Sorority Life (FSL) at Utah State University as a dynamic community that empowers individuals to build lifelong connections, grow through leadership and service, and make lasting contributions to their campus and beyond.

Our Mission

1

Endeavor to make Utah State University a better place for everyone

2

Facilitate the co-curricular development of FSL members

3

Promote the growth of the FSL community and its chapters

Our Value

Fraternity and sorority life (FSL), plays a significant role in the vibrant tapestry of university communities. These organizations provide students with a sense of belonging, personal growth, and opportunities for leadership and service that extend well beyond their college years. For universities, they are invaluable in fostering a sense of community and connection among students.

Moreover, FSL organizations are crucial in cultivating leaders and promoting a culture of philanthropy and service. Members of fraternities and sororities frequently engage in various community service activities, volunteering their time and resources to make a positive impact beyond the campus. This spirit of giving back not only benefits local communities but also reflects positively on the university itself. It showcases a commitment to producing well-rounded graduates who are not only academically accomplished but also socially responsible citizens.

Furthermore, FSL contributes to the campus experience by offering students a chance to connect with peers from different backgrounds and interests. These organizations often host a wide range of events and activities, promoting inclusivity and broadening the horizons of their members.

The bonds formed in fraternities and sororities often lead to lifelong friendships, and these networks can enhance students' overall college experience.

The value of fraternity and sorority life lies in its ability to create a supportive, tight-knit community within the larger university setting that benefits both the institution and the surrounding community.

Our Community

The Fraternity and Sorority Life (FSL) office and community at Utah State University (USU) actively utilize a diverse array of initiative-based programs and additional resources designed to make the campus community more vibrant, effective, and welcoming. By continuously supporting these structured community programs, FSL provides members with essential tools for authentic personal development, leadership cultivation, and academic success. These efforts serve as just a small glimpse into the many developmental frameworks the community champions to foster deep inclusivity, strong campus partnerships, and a lasting, positive impact on the broader student body.

ORDER OF OMEGA

The Order of Omega is a prestigious national honor society that recognizes the top three percent of fraternity and sorority members who exhibit exceptional leadership, academic excellence, and service to their campus. It serves as a vital bridge within the Greek community, uniting outstanding leaders from different chapters to collaborate on campus-wide initiatives and elevate community standards. It champions high-achieving role models, inspiring the broader Fraternity and Sorority Life community to pursue higher academic and ethical excellence.

FRATERNITY & SORORITY INSTITUTE

The Utah State University Fraternity & Sorority Institute (FSI) serves as an intensive, single-day Greek Orientation designed to ground new members in the foundational purpose and values of fraternity and sorority life. By focusing on community identity, shared ethics, and institutional pride, the program helps first-year members quickly understand how their individual chapters fit into the larger university ecosystem. It accelerates personal growth and inspires new members to immediately contribute to a more vibrant, responsible, and unified campus community.

EVENT MONITORING COMMITTEE (EMC)

The EMC is a group composed of volunteers from recognized fraternity and sorority chapters who have received specialized risk management and check-in training. As official representatives of Utah State University, they are responsible for conducting scheduled and random check-ins at off-campus official chapter events and submitting a compliance report back to the FSA. It directly ensures that chapters are implementing appropriate risk management measures to prevent misconduct, address immediate safety issues, and maintain a safe environment for all attendees.

FSL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The Fraternity and Sorority Life (FSL) Leadership Conference is an annual, exclusive training event designed to equip elected, selected, and appointed Greek student leaders with essential management guidance and an understanding of the resources available through both USU and their national headquarters. It matters because it connects chapter officers directly with alumni and campus professionals, providing the critical leadership tools and strategic training necessary to set organizations up for long-term operational success.

FSL AMBASSADORS

The FSL Ambassadors are passionate student leaders from various chapters who serve as the public face and formal representatives of the Greek community at Utah State University. By staffing student orientations, managing outreach events, and engaging in authentic conversations with families and prospective students, they actively promote involvement, demystify the Greek experience, and champion the core values of FSL. They are often a person's very first connection to fraternity and sorority life, playing a vital role in shaping public perception and ensuring that the initial impression of the community is welcoming, positive, and reflective of the university.

Our Councils

Interfraternity Council (IFC)

An IFC exists where there are two or more North American Interfraternity Conference (NIC) members, or associate member fraternities on a campus. The Council's purpose is to advance fraternity interests and values on campus and provide interfraternal leadership to the entire community. The Council is advised by the FSL Advisor.

College Panhellenic Council (CPC)

A College Panhellenic Council is established where there are two or more National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) sororities, or associated sororities on campus. The purpose of the Council is to promote and advance the interest of women's-only sororities. The Council is advised by the FSL Advisor.

Our Chapters

Each of our chapters is unique, with its own values, symbols, traditions, and personality—but all share a common goal: to help their members grow and thrive. We're proud of every chapter and the distinct way each one contributes to our Fraternity & Sorority Life community. Together, they create a vibrant, supportive, and purpose-driven experience at Utah State.

Annual Summary

Utah State University's Fraternity and Sorority Life program has undoubtedly made significant strides the 2025-2026 academic year. These milestones include:

- Review and implementation of new IFC Constitution, bylaws, and Executive Board positions.
- Record sorority recruitment registration and recruitment numbers for Fall and Spring.
- The reestablishment of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity and maintenance of its charter.

Our community is also demonstrating substantial progress in both anecdotal and quantitative indicators.

Despite these advancements, FSL still faces ongoing challenges in its quest to achieve true vitality and excellence such as lack of Fraternity recruitment prospects and the absence of housing equity amongst FSL organizations and prospective organizations..

By embracing challenges as opportunities for growth, Utah State University's Fraternity and Sorority Life is poised to continue its upward momentum—creating an even more enriching, supportive, and impactful experience for every student involved.
