Conversation Guide: Sexual Assault in Utah

A Bolder Way Forward for Utah and Living Room Conversations (LRC) are partnering to offer a simple, sociable, and structured way to practice communicating across differences while building understanding and relationships. This is one of a series that are available at the local and state levels in a variety of settings (e.g., workplaces, universities, schools, communities, faith-based organizations, and homes). Typically, 4-6 people meet in person or by video call for about 60 minutes to listen to and be heard by others on one of our nearly 160+ topics. Rather than debating or convincing others, we take turns talking to share, learn, and be curious. No preparation is required, though background links are available on some topic pages online. Anyone can host using these italicized instructions. Hosts also participate.

I. Introductions: Why We’re Here (~5 minutes)
Each participant has about 1 minute to introduce themselves.

- Share your name, where you live, what drew you here, and if this is your first conversation.

II. Conversation Agreements: How We’ll Engage (~4 minutes)
These will set the tone of our conversation; participants may volunteer to take turns reading them aloud.

- Be curious and listen to understand. Conversation is as much about listening as it is about talking. You might enjoy exploring how others’ experiences have shaped their values and perspectives.
- Show respect and suspend judgment. People tend to judge one another. Setting judgement aside opens you up to learning from others and makes them feel respected and appreciated. Try to truly listen, without interruption or crosstalk.
- Note any common ground as well as any differences. Look for areas of agreement or shared values that may arise and take an interest in the differing beliefs and opinions of others.
- Be authentic and welcome that from others. Share what’s important to you. Speak from your experience. Be considerate of others who are doing the same.
- Be purposeful and to the point. Do your best to keep your comments concise and relevant to the question you are answering. Be conscious of sharing airtime with other participants.
- Own and guide the conversation. Take responsibility for the quality of your participation and the conversation as a whole. Be proactive in getting yourself and others back on track if needed. Use an agreed upon signal like the “time out” sign if you feel the agreements are not being honored.

III. Question Rounds: What We’ll Talk About
Optional: a participant can keep track of time and gently let people know when their time has elapsed.

Round One: Getting to Know Each Other (~6 min)
Each participant can take 1-2 minutes to answer one of these questions:

- What are your hopes and concerns for your family, community, and/or the country?
- What would your best friend say about who you are?
- What sense of purpose / mission / duty guides you in your life?

This is an open-source project. Please use, share, and modify with attribution to LivingRoomConversations.org
Round Two: Exploring the Topic – Sexual Assault in Utah (~30 min)

One participant can volunteer to read this paragraph.

Sexual assault is a significant social, criminal justice, and healthcare issue in Utah. According to the FBI, rape is the only violent crime in Utah with higher rates than the national average. In fact, research reports that Utah ranks poorly (43 of 51) in terms of the prevalence of rape victimization among women and that we are 9th of the 50 US states for the number of rapes per capita. Further, only 11.8% of individuals who have experienced rape or sexual assault in Utah reported the crime to law enforcement. Sexual assault and rape result in significant individual societal costs including negative short- and long-term physical, psychological, and emotional effects. Things need to change in Utah (see this report for more details).

Take ~2 minutes each to answer a question below without interruption or crosstalk. After everyone has answered, the group may take a few minutes for clarifying or follow up questions/responses. Continue exploring additional questions as time allows.

- Why are you interested in discussing the topic of sexual assault in Utah?
- Are the Utah sexual assault/rape statistics surprising to you? Why or why not?
- Why do you think Utah’s rates are higher than the national averages?
- What might be the reason so many people in Utah who are assaulted and particularly raped do not report the crime?
- Do you think that most Utahns understand that sexual assault is a problem on our state? If so, why aren’t state and community leaders (e.g., government, lawmakers, educational institutions, faith-based organizations) doing more to shift things?
- What needs to be done to make Utah a safer state for girls and women? Do people know what to do to help? What do you think you can do to help Utah change?

Round Three: Reflecting on the Conversation (~10 min)

Take 2 minutes to answer one of the following questions:

- What was most meaningful/valueable to you in this Living Room Conversation?
- What learning, new understanding or common ground was found on the topic?
- How has this conversation changed your perception of anyone in this group, including yourself?
- Is there a next step you would like to take based upon the conversation you just had?
