Participate in a research study!

Utah State University and the VA Salt Lake City Health Care System are conducting a study of an equine-assisted program for Veterans with PTSD.

Participants will either complete a six-session equine program of horsemanship skills and riding during the summer of 2021 or will be in a control group with the option to participate in the equine program after the study.

Veterans with a diagnosis of PTSD who are currently enrolled in mental health treatment at the VA Salt Lake City Health Care System and who can ride may be eligible to participate.
